

In the Claims:

1 (cancelled)

2. (new) A role playing strategy computer game comprising:

a multi-user game where a player plays as a role playing character where a plurality of players can play, where said game is run on a computer where said players are connected to said game through a connection to the Internet where each player has a game account that is stored in a memory means and said game account is funded with currency.

3. (new) A game according to claim 2 further comprising said game account storing a history of events, game play tactics, win record and transactions.

4. (new) A game according to claim 2 further comprising where said game account can be used to purchase additional items.

5. (new) A game according to claim 2 further comprising where said game account can be used to purchase additional skills.

6. (new) A game according to claim 2 further comprising where said game account can be used to purchase additional levels.

7. (new) A game according to claim 2 further comprising where said game account can be used to purchase special skills.
8. (new) A game according to claim 2 further comprising where said game account can be used to purchase additional lives.
9. (new) A game according to claim 2 further comprising where when a player beats an opponent said player takes over any additional characteristics that his opponent had gained.
10. (new) A game according to claim 2 further comprising where a player receives currency from his defeated opponents' game account.
11. (new) A game according to claim 10 further comprising where said currency goes to the player's game account.
12. (new) A game according to claim 2 further comprising where said game account is funded through a credit card.
13. (new) A game according to claim 2 further comprising where said game account is funded through cash.